POPPING CORN.

There they sat a popping corn.
John Stiles and Susan Cutter;
John Stiles was stout as any ox,
And Susan fat as butter.

And there they sat and shelled the corn,
And raked and stirred the fire,
And talked of different kind of ears,
And hitched their chairs up higher.

Then Susan she the popper shook,
And John he shook the popper,
Till both their faces grew as red,
As saucapans made of butter.

And then they shelled and popped and ate,
All kinds of fun a popping;
And he haw-hawed at her remarks,
And she laughed at his joking.

And still they popped, and still they ate,
(John's mouth was like a hopper,)
And stirred the fire, and sprinkled salt,
And shook and shook the popper.

The clock struck nine, the clock struck ten,
And still the corn kept popping;
It struck eleven and then struck twelve,
And still no sign of stopping.

And John he ate, and Sue she thought—
The corn did pop and patter,
Till John cried out, "the corn's a-fire!"
Why, Susan, what's the matter?"

Says she, "John Stiles, it's one o'clock;
You'll die of indigestion;
I'm sick of all this popping corn—
Why don't you pop the question?"

SKATING.

There is a little foot
That I know of somewhere;
I wish I were the ice,
That I might freeze it there.

There is a little hand
In which carresses linger;
And if I were Jack Frost
I think I'd pinch a finger.

There is a music mouth
Where crimson blushes mingle;
I wish I were the cold,
To bite them into tingle.

There is a pair of eyes,
O'erhung with tresses golden;
I wish I were the veil,
To be so near beholden.

There is an angel face
Within an angel bonnet;
I wish I were a snow storm,
To melt by flakes upon it.

There is a little heart
My heart throbs at each minute;
And I would give the world
To win it—only win it.

There is a little girl
Skates somewhere hereabouts;
And if I were her skates
I never would wear out.

From the Land We Love.
Sketch of the First Kentucky Brigade.

BY GEN. GEORGE B. HODGE.

Few men indeed, with means so limited, and in the midst of movements so grand and stupendous that the career of general officers have been lost sight of, have won such a name and reputation. Of a mild and unassuming demeanor, gentle and affable in his manners, handsome in person, and possessed of all that polish of address which is supposed to best quality men for the drawing room and parlor, no enterprise however dangerous, no reconnaissance however tiresome and weary could daunt his spirits or deter him from his purpose. For months, with a handful of men, he swept the northern bank of Green River, cutting off the supplies of the enemy, destroying bridges necessary for their transportation, capturing their pickets, and harassing their flanks, moving with a celerity which defied pursuit. No commander of a detached post or guard of the enemy could flatter himself that distance from Bowling Green or disagreeableness of weather could protect him from a visit from Morgan. He was liable to be called upon at any hour, in any weather, or at any point, beyond the entrenched camps of the Federal army. The earth might be soaked with the rain, which had for days been falling, the roads might be impassable, the Green and Barren Rivers with their tributaries might be swollen far beyond their banks, but over that earth and across those rivers, when least expected, came Morgan as with the swoop of an eagle, and after destroying the munitions of the enemy, or capturing the guards, was away again, leaving behind him a polite note intimating he would call again soon, or perhaps telegraphing a dispatch to the nearest Federal commander, giving him full and precise particulars of the movements he had just made, and most provoking details of the damage he had just committed. Long after the Confederate army had retired from Kentucky, when the entire State was in undisputed possession of the Northern armies, many a Southern sympathizer found immunity and protection from maltreatment and outrage by the significant threat that Morgan would visit that neighborhood soon; and indeed during the disastrous retreat from Nashville, the tireless partisan passing through eastern Tennessee and Kentucky far in the rear of the Federal army, fell upon their train at Gallatin, Tennessee, and lit up the spirits of the Tennesseans by one of his bold and daring strokes. Even when the Southern army had passed the Tennessee River, when every available soldier of the South was supposed to be at Corinth to meet the overwhelming hosts of the invader, Morgan gathering three or four hundred of his men re-crossed the River, fell upon the railroad train, at Athens, Alabama, captured two hundred and eighty prisoners and destroyed the cars. Ambushed, defeated, cut to pieces and routed by greatly superior forces a few days afterwards, hardly had the news reached Louisville of his disaster, when collecting two hundred of his scattered command, he fell like a thunderbolt upon the railroad train at Cave City, in the center of Kentucky, captured many prisoners, thousands of dollars in money, and destroying forty-three baggage cars laden with the enemy's stores.

Early in November, 1861, the Hon. John C. Breckinridge arrived at Bowling Green, when he resigned his seat as Senator from Kentucky, in the Federal Congress, and was immediately commissioned as Brigadier General and assigned to the command of the Kentucky Brigade, General Buckner assuming command of a division of which the Kentucky brigade was a component part. He assumed command on the 16th of November. Having as his Chief of Staff and A. A. General, Captain George B. Hodge and Aid-de-Camp Thomas T. Hawkin. The brigade was ordered to Oakland Station on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, where, in connection with Hindman's brigade, it remained in observation of the movements of the enemy on the North Bank of the Green River, who was known to be in great force at Munfordsville, and his cantonments extending back towards Elizabethtown, and was supposed to be only waiting the completion of the Green River bridge, which was repairing, to advance his entire column, estimated at 80,000 men, on Bowling Green and Nashville. Behind the curtain of the brigades of Hindman and Breckinridge, General Johnston was rapidly pushing on the fortifications at Bowling Green, and by the latter part of January, 1862, they had become quite formidable.

It had, however, become doubtful whether the enemy would attempt the passage of the Green River. It was certain if he did so, his true attack would be developed in a flank movement, by way of Glasgow and Scottsville on Nashville, while there was left him the alternative of massing his troops at Paducah, then in his possession, and availing himself of his enormous supplies of water transportation, of moving by the Tennessee and Cumberland Rivers on Fort Henry and Donelson, by a successful attack on those works, turning the flank of the Confederate forces at Bowling Green, opening the way to Nashville, and possibly enabling him to interpose between the Southern armies and their base of operations. To guard against this latter movement, the divisions of Generals Floyd and Pillow and a portion of the division of General Buckner, were about the 20th of January, moved by way of Clarksville, to the support of Donelson. With this force marched the 2nd Kentucky regiment, which, after covering itself with imperishable glory in the terrible combat of three days, at Fort Donelson, was on the 16th of February, surrendered to the enemy, and passed into captivity, ceased to participate in the campaign of the Spring and summer of 1862.

By the 10th of February, definite information had been obtained, by General Johnston, of the movements of the enemy. He was convinced that an overpowering force had moved upon Forts Donelson and Henry; that a heavy column was pursuing Crittenden, after defeating him, at Fishing Creek, threatening Nashville on that flank, and that a force almost as large as the Confederate force at Bowling Green was held in hand by the enemy to be poured across Green River and attack him in front, while the two bodies on his right and left united at Nashville and closed up his rear. With the promptness and decision which characterized his high and serenely courageous mind, Gen. Johnston determined to retire from Bowling Green and fall back on Nashville, where, uniting with the garrison and troops in defence of Forts Donelson and Henry, should these places be found to be untenable, he could hold the division of the Federal General Grant in check, while he went to the assistance of Crittenden, and crushed the Federal column advancing by way of Cumberland Gap. The fortifications of Bowling Green were with every expedition dismantled, the government stores shipped as rapidly as possible to Nashville, and on the 9th of February, an order was issued by Major General Hardee, commanding the central army of Kentucky, directing Gen. Hindman and Breckinridge to re-pass the Karren River and be in Bowling Green by the night of the 10th. The admirable discipline which General Breckinridge had exercised enabled him to comply promptly with the order, without confusion and with no loss of stores, equipments, or supplies. His brigade marching at 8 o'clock A. M., on the 10th passed Barren River bridge at 3 P. M., and bivouacked three miles south of Bowling Green for the night. Hindman being farther in the rear, lost a few of his scouts and had hardly time to blow up the bridges over Barren River when the head of the enemy's column came into sight and immediately commenced shelling the Railroad depot and that portion of the track on which were lying the freight trains. These they succeeded in firing finally.

When the retreat of the army commenced, Breckinridge's brigade was constituted the rear guard, General Hardee however, being still in rear with the cavalry and light artillery. Notwithstanding the fact that cold, freezing and intensely inclement weather set in, notwithstanding the fact that evidences of the demoralization which a retreat in the presence of an enemy always produces, were too apparent in many divisions of the army, yet the soldierly manner in which Breckinridge brought off his brigade, losing not a straggler from the ranks, not a musket or a tent, speaks more creditably for him, and for them than the recital perhaps of their deeds of daring in the field could do.

HEAD'QS MIL. DIV. OF THE MISSISSIPPI
BIG SHANTY, GA., JUNE 21, 1864.

General S. G. Burbridge, Commanding District of Kentucky;

GENERAL: The recent raid of Morgan, and the concurrent acts of men styling themselves "Confederate partisans," or "guerrillas," call for determined action on your part. Even on the Southern "States rights" theory, Kentucky has not seceded. Her people, by their vote and by their actions, have adhered to their allegiance to the National Government; and the South would now coerce her out of our Union and into theirs—the very dogma of coercion upon which so much stress was laid at the outset of the war, and which carried into rebellion the middle or border States.

But politics aside, these acts of the so-called "partisans" or "guerrillas" are nothing but simple murder, base stealing, arson, and other well-defined crimes, which do not sound so well under their true names, as the more agreeable ones of warlike meaning.

Now, before starting on this campaign, I foresaw, as you remember, that this very case would arise. I asked Governor Bramlette to at once organize in every county a small trustworthy band, under the sheriff, if possible, and at once dash to arrest every man in the community who was dangerous to it, and also every fellow hanging about the towns, villages, and cross-roads, who had no honest calling (the material out of which guerrillas are made). But this sweeping exhibition of power, doubtless, seemed to the Governor rather arbitrary.

The fact is, in our country personal liberty has been so well secured that public safety is lost sight of in our laws and constitutions, and the result is we are thrown back a hundred years in civilization, law, and everything else, and will go right straight to anarchy and the devil if somebody don't arrest our downward progress. We, the military, must do it, and we have right and law on our side. All governments and communities have a right to guard against real or even supposed danger. The whole people of Kentucky must not be kept in a state of suspense and danger lest a few innocent men should be wrongfully accused.

First—You may order all your post, district, and other commanders, that guerrillas are not soldiers, but wild beasts, unknown to the usages of war. To be recognized as soldiers, they must be enlisted, enrolled, officered, uniformed, armed and equipped by some recognized belligerent power, and must, if detached from a main army, be of sufficient strength, with written orders from some army commander, to do some military thing.

Of course we have recognized the Confederate Government as a belligerent power, but we deny their right to our lands, territories, rivers, coasts, and nationality; admitting their rebellion and the right to move to some other country, where lands and customs are more in accordance with their own ideas and prejudices.

Second—The civil power being insufficient to protect life and property, ex necessitate rei to prevent anarchy, "which nature abhors," the military steps in, and is rightful, constitutional, and lawful.

Under this law everybody can be made to "stay at home and mind his own business," and if they won't do that, can be sent away where they won't keep their honest neighbors in fear of danger, robbery, and insult.

Third—Your military commanders, provost marshals, and other agents, may arrest all males and females who have encouraged or harbored guerrillas or robbers, and you may cause them to be collected in Louisville, and when you have enough, say three or four hundred, I will cause them to be sent down the Mississippi, through the guerrilla gauntlet, and by a sailing ship send them to a land where they may take their niggers and make a colony, with laws and a future of their own. If they won't live in peace in such a garden as Kentucky, why then we will kindly send them to another, it would be a better land, and surely this would be kindness and a blessing to Kentucky.

I wish you to be careful that no personalities are mixed up in this, nor does a full and generous love of country, "of the South," of their State or county, form a cause for banishment; but that devilish spirit which will not be satisfied, and that makes war the pretext for murder, arson, and theft in all its grades, perjury and all the crimes of human nature.

I use no concealment in saying that I do not object to men and women having what they call "Southern feelings," if confined to love of country and of peace, honor, and security, and even of little family pride; but these become "crime" when enlarged to mean a love of war, desolation, famine, and all the horrid attendants of anarchy.

I am, with respect, General, your friend,

W. T. SHERMAN,
Maj. Gen. Com.

Noah and his happy family, so it is legended, were sailing along securely over the deluged world, when the Patriarch descried the last man. The latter had climbed to the summit of the highest tree, on top of the highest mountain in the world; the water was even then up to his chin, and still rising steadily as the torrents of rain descended. "Take me on board your raft, old man," sung out the last victim in a supplicating voice. "It can't be done, my dear fellow," was the patriarchal response. "None but the Lord's chosen people can board this craft." "Then go to thunder!" was the heroic response. "It's only going to be a small shower after all!" And then the last billow of the deluge rolled over the head of the gritty last man.

Since half a hundred people were burned to death in a railroad car the papers have suggested that the cars be heated with boiling water or steam. In case of a collision they would then be only scalded to death and not charred as the Angola victims were.

The New Yorker who told Thackeray that although he had no objection to England, he'd be afraid to go out at night there "for fear he should step off" is paralleled by the Yankee traveling in Europe who, when asked if he had crossed the Alps, replied "now you remind me of it, I believe I did pass some rising ground."

Death, hell and the grave you may escape; but I'll bet you four dollars that you have to buy your wife a new bonnet when she wants it.

"I am on the trail of a deer," as a gentleman said when he trod on a lady's dress.

"Oh, what a soft seat!" as the hat said when placed upon a dandy's head.

The Rankin House has been renovated and refitted since the fire.

Mat. Turney, Esq., is a lucky man. He drew a splendid painting at a sort of lottery game, the other day at the Bourbon House in Paris.

We were informed last Monday, that T. J. Megibben, of this county, had sold to a New York house, sixty thousand gallons of whisky for 51 thousand dollars, they paying the government tax.

Mr. C. G. Land is disposing of his dry goods at greatly reduced prices. In fact he will sell his calicoes and ladies dress patterns to suit purchasers. His gents' furnishing goods he offers very low. dec26

Miss Kate Stoner and Mr. James Butler, of Bourbon county, passed down the railroad a week ago last Monday for Cincinnati, where the two were made "one flesh." Miss Kate is the daughter of Washington Stoner. We hope they may live long and happily.

The Peak Family will amuse the people of Cynthiana on Thursday night, at the Court-house, after the lecture of Admiral Semmes. This is the most famous family of Swiss Bell Ringers in the world, and the music they make is beautiful. No one who loves music should fail to go.

The True Kentuckian says: A difficulty occurred at Shawhan's Station on Monday last, between George Kellar, son of Sol. Kellar, dec'd, and Jas. Dimmitt, of Russell's Mills, in which Dimmitt was shot, the ball striking a rib on the left side, and ranging round toward the back. The wound though severe, it is thought, is not dangerous. We understand that it was a clear case of self defense.

We learn that a Mr. Jack Divini attempted suicide at the Cynthiana House last Sunday night, by taking laudanum. Dr. Beale was called for in time to save him. Jack is a good mechanic and is worth something to mankind and himself too, and we think should not become discouraged with life at his age. The world and its affairs presents rather a dreary appearance just now, but spring will come very soon, when business will be lively and the world will brighten up.

The following marriage licenses have been issued by our worthy county clerk, P. Wherrett, for the month of December: S. M. Humphreys to A. Boone, W. C. Platt to Nannie Nichols, G. W. Mullens to S. E. Daniel, B. J. Bailey to Lucinda Jolley, Jephtha Cloe to Lucinda Elliott, Solomon Whalen to P. Langley, G. W. Doan to M. J. Clayton, A. Florence to P. A. Cook, S. Brown to M. A. McKinley, W. Fryman to C. Harrington, T. Angel to M. J. Smith.

Rain has been falling the past week in extraordinary amounts, really more than seemed necessary, as we had understood that the rivers were up high enough for boats to pass down loaded with coal. South Licking River is booming and we expect another small Noah's flood. Steamboats could now run up to Cynthiana from Cincinnati, were the bridges out of the way. Many years ago it was believed that Cynthiana would be the head of navigation on South Licking, provided the Legislature would lock and dam the stream, and lots along its banks were held at fabulous prices. We hope that no such ideas will creep into the heads of our people now because we hardly think it would pay to make the improvements. Rain and mud will put our people to thinking about turnpikes again, in certain districts. We shall talk about the Claysville pike again this summer.

Admiral Semmes will give another one of his interesting lectures at the Christian Church to-night.

On Wednesday last a fight occurred at a dance near Paris, Edgar county, Illinois, between Vandever Perry and Ben. Devers. Preston Cash in stepping in between them to stop the fight, was stabbed seven times with a bowie-knife in Perry's hands and died that night. The murderer escaped.—Cin. Com.

The above extract is a telegram to the Commercial, and is not correct. It seems from the following letter to Mrs. Devers, of this place, that Ben. Devers had nothing to do with the murder, as he left the dance before the war had fairly begun. Ben. Devers is a quiet peaceful man, and we hardly believe that he has any murder in his heart:

Conlogue, Ill., Jan. 1, 1868.
Mrs. Devers:—Ben was not in the trouble, and is not concerned in it. He was there, and they commenced quarrelling with him, but he got up and left before the trouble.

Yours, &c.
H. O. SNYDER.

The good people of Paris, have had, during the holidays, quite an excitement at the Catholic Fair. Among other things which created quite a stir was the struggle for a cane, "or who was the most popular man." The candidates for honor, were Messrs. J. Hickey, T. Green, M. Murray and F. L. McChesney. It seems that a quarrel of a dollar secured a vote, and the man who had the most money or whose friends had the most was by far the most popular man. Mr. Murray had the largest purse or the most friends, we know not which, and as a matter of course carried off the cane. Mr. McChesney was second best, and will, we understand, receive from his friends a cane valued at fifty dollars. So we go.

We are authorized to announce A. PERRIN, Esq., as a candidate for Circuit Clerk, of Harrison, subject to the decision of the Democratic Convention. Jan9th

We are authorized to announce Dr. A. J. BEALE, as a candidate for circuit court clerk, for the county of Harrison, subject to the Democratic convention. Jan2nd

A CARD TO INVALIDS.

A Clergyman, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the cure of nervous weakness, early decay, diseases of the urinary and seminal organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, free of charge. KENTUCKY STATE LOTTERY!

The only Legalized Drawing of the kind in the United States.

Grand Holiday Drawing!

To be drawn at COVINGTON, Ky.

CLASS Y, December 31, 1867.

No more acceptable and appropriate present can be made to a mother, wife, daughter, husband, or father, than a ticket in the Kentucky State Lottery. It has long been acknowledged that it offers greater inducements to the purchasers of tickets than any other legalized lottery in the world. The December scheme surpasses, in grandeur, anything of the kind ever presented to the public; it distributes $200,000. The capital prize is $50,000; insuring a handsome fortune to the lucky holder of the corresponding ticket. Hundreds of well attested instances, similar to the following, are almost daily occurring: "Miss Mary Russell Mifflin, who died in 1855, when only ten years old; gained, as a prize in a lottery, the handsome sum of ten thousand pounds, or fifty thousand dollars. The ticket which drew the magnificent sum, was presented to her by her father, one of the most prominent men and judges of the time." How many homes would be brightened by a similar success in the grand holiday drawing of the Kentucky State Lottery, on December 31st, 1867.

LIST OF PRIZES.

|---------------------|-------------------|
| 1 prize of $50,000 | 9 prizes of $300 |
| 1 prize of 20,000 | 9 prizes of 250 |
| 1 prize of 8,000 | 153 prizes of 250 |
| 1 prize of 5,000 | 9 prizes of 150 |
| 2 prizes of 3,000 | 220 prizes of 120 |
| 29 prizes of 1,000 | 18 prizes of 100 |
| 63 prizes of 400 | 261 prizes of 50 |

Prizes amounting to $230,050.

32,000 Numbers and 788 Prizes.

Tickets $12, Halves 6, Quarters $4

PLAN OF THE LOTTERY.

The numbers from 1 to 32,000 printed on separate slips of paper, are encircled with small tin tubes, and placed in one wheel. The prizes, of which there are 788, varying in value from $50,000 to $50, are similarly printed on separate slips, encircled and placed in another wheel. The wheels are then revolved, and a number is drawn from the wheel of numbers, and at the same time a prize is drawn from the other wheel. The number and prize drawn out are opened and exhibited to the audience, and registered. The prize being placed against the number drawn. This operation is repeated until all the prizes are drawn out.

The above magnificent scheme will be drawn in public in Covington, Ky., on the 1st day of December, 1867, being the great holiday drawing of the year.

The above magnificent single number Lottery will be drawn in public, in Covington, Ky., by sworn Commissioners, at one o'clock, p. m., at the corner of 4th and Scott streets. The Kentucky State Lotteries are no gift Enterprises, but responsible money lotteries, that have been conducted for the past thirty years, and are drawn under the authority of a charter from the State, and bonds are given for the payment of all prizes.

The official list of numbers drawing prizes will be published in the N. Y. Herald, Chicago papers, Cincinnati Daily Commercial and Cincinnati German papers.

Address all orders for tickets to MURRAY, EDDY & CO., Covington, Ky.

LYON'S PERIODICAL DROPS!

The Great Female Remedy for Irregularities!!!

I HAVE tested these Drops in my own practice, over ten years, and do not hesitate to say, that nothing has yet been developed by medical research, that acts so powerfully, positively and harmlessly, in cases of female irregularity, as does this medicine. In all recent cases it never fails, while thousands who have been long sufferers, are indebted to it for the boon of health to-day.

Although so powerful and positive, they are perfectly harmless, and may be used at all times, except when specially forbidden in the directions.

They have been extensively employed by eminent physicians in France and England, as well as in my own practice, over ten years, and I have yet to hear of the first instance of failure. I could give you testimonials of their efficacy from ladies all over the Northern and Western States, were they not in their nature, private. Over 100,000 bottles have been sold the last year, and I hope and trust as many sufferers, have been benefited. I am well aware that a remedy so potent to remove all obstructions, may be used for a bad purpose, but trust that, when one bottle is thus used, ten may fall into the hands of really needy sufferers.

To all who suffer from any irregularity, painful, difficult, excessive, offensive or obstructed Menstruation, Leucorrhoea, or the train of diseases that follow, I would say, try a bottle of Dr. Lyon's French Periodical Drops. Being a fluid preparation, their action is more direct and positive than any pills or powders. Explicit directions, bearing my facsimile, accompany each bottle.

They may be obtained of nearly every druggist in the country, or by enclosing the price to C. G. Clark & Co., New Haven, Ct. General agents for the United States in Canada.

MAGIC BILIOUS
POWDERS!!!

THIS PREPARATION IS THE DISCOVERY of the Rev. J. W. Poland, formerly pastor of the Baptist Church in Goffstown, N. H., and a man deeply beloved by that denomination throughout New England. He was obliged to leave the pulpit and study medicine to save his own life, and his Magic Powders are one of the most wonderful discoveries of modern times. It is the great Liver and Bilious remedy, which completely throws in the shade all other discoveries in medicine; and it affords him much gratification that they receive the unanimous approbation of all who have tested them. The Magic Bilious Powders are a positive cure for Liver Complaint, in its most aggravated form, and an immediate corrector of all Bilious Derangements. Excellent for headache, constipation, pimples, blotches, a sallow skin, drowsiness, dizziness, heartburn, palpitation and a most wonderful cure and preventive for Fever and Ague. [We advise all who are troubled with this fearful malady to always keep the Powders on hand for immediate use.]
Here are a few important particulars:
1st.—They are the Great Specific for all Bilious Affections.
2d.—They are the only known remedy that will cure Liver Complaint.
3d.—They are the only known remedy that will cure Constipation.
4th.—The Powders are so thorough in their operation that one package will be all that the majority of those using them will require to effect a cure.
5th.—They are a mild and pleasant yet the most effectual cathartic known.
6th.—They are the cheapest and best medicine extant, as they can be sent by mail to any part of the world for the price, 50 cents. Circulars, containing certificates, information, &c. sent to any part of the world free of charge.
Sold by all druggists, or by mail on application to

It will sew from the stoutest leather to the finest bank bill, and makes every stitch perfect. It is strong, compact and durable, and will last twenty years, for ordinary family sewing, if not broken by accident or carelessness. But it is useless to parade a long list of the merits of this machine before the public, as the poorest concerns furnish them in the greatest abundance. All can try this machine by calling on the agent and it will proclaim its own merits.
